PEACE COMING TO THE COAL FIELDS AS RESULT OF JOINT CONFERENCE

Efforts to Operate With Strikebreakers Have Proved Futile and Conference Will be Held Next Week, Prominent Mine Operators Say.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Cleveland, O., July 29.—Peace in the union coal fields of the United States after a four months' strike which has brought the nation to the brink of its worst fuel famine, is near at hand, prominent operators told International News Service today.

Within a short time, possibly early next week, a joint conference representing a "majority of the tonnage" in the old central competitive field, consisting of western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, will meet with the scale committee of the United Mine Workers of America and arrange the basis of the settlement. Not all operators will be present or represented, at this meeting, it was admitted, and the tonnage represented in some of the fields may be small, but it is thought certain that all operators employing union miners will accept the result in view of the generally recognized futility of efforts to mine coal by the use of strikebreakers.

The invitation of President Harding to resume mining under the protection of state or federal troops has been barren of results and it is now generally admitted that the only way to get sufficient coal to avert a famine that will result in serious suffering and bring reviving industry from the brink of chaos is to make an agreement satisfactory to the organized miners.

The books of coal operators here and at other points in the central field, it is learned, are filled with orders and customers are clamoring for coal. Operators can see before them several months of profitable business and also realize that unless some voluntary steps are taken very soon to end the fuel famine, the government will step in and operate the mines.

Board of Education Fixes Rate of Payment at Figure Adopted Last Year and Approved by State Authorities.

The regular meeting of the Board of Education was held Friday evening at the offices of the board with Trustees Van Wageningen, Hale, Gill, Thompson, Metz, President Flemming and Superintendent Michael in attendance.

On motion of Trustee Gill the rate of tuition for non-resident students was fixed at $40 per year, in addition to the funds provided by the state. The matter of sending out these bills for outside tuition and demanding their payment within a certain time was discussed by the board. Trustee Van Wageningen moved that the bills be rendered to the trustee of the school district fifteen days after the date of enrollment and at payment of the same be demanded within thirty days after the date of the enrollment, which motion was carried.

Bills were audited and ordered paid to the amount of $1,382.25. Trustee Van Wageningen, for the financial committee, offered the financial and statistical report for year ending July 31, 1922, and moved that it be adopted by the board and be placed on file in the proper places. This report showed among other things that there was a balance left over for the year of $1,292.25, and that the total value of all the school properties was $679,684.

Superintendent Michael brought to the attention of the board the fact that the terms of John Hillebrand, V. A. Gorman and A. W. Hoffman had expired as members of the advisory board on part time schools. On motion they were elected for another full term beginning August 1, 1922 and ending August 1, 1925.

On motion the board adjourned until Friday evening, September 8, 1922.

MONDAY LAST DAY DOG LICENSES ARE ISSUED

Monday is the last day that dog licenses may be obtained, and dog owners should make it a point to obtain the necessary papers of City Clerk Doremus before that time. Failure to obtain a license may lead to arrest and the killing of the pet. Under the state law all dog owners who neglect to obtain the license must be reported to Albany.

RAIL EXECUTIVES STILL WARLIKE

Their Conference Next Tuesday Not Likely to be a Love Feast as Lines are Sharply Drawn.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, July 29.—The impression grew in eastern railway circles today that the meeting here Tuesday of the 148 railway presidents of the United States called to consider President Harding's peace plan for settlement of the shop strike will develop sharp warfare between peace and war factions.

Reports reaching the office of John G. Walber, chief of the "Intelligence Department" of the Association of Eastern Executives are more warlike than peaceful.

One general manager of a big eastern system, whose name is withheld, is said to have threatened to resign with practically his entire supervisory staff if his road agrees to the Harding peace plan, which is considered a surrender by the railroads.

Another general manager, again nameless, arrived in New York today after a tour of the chief divisions of his system, "during which he is described as having made speeches warning members of other unions conducting or contemplating strikes 'do not vote for a strike unless you intend to go out, for nothing will be done to prevent a strike'."

Walber's department is the clearing house of all statistical argument intended for presentation to the federal railway board in the various wage controversies. It is a "listening post" in the rail war.

Walber declares that nothing has come to his ear since the publication of the president's peace proposal to indicate that the big eastern chiefs are any more inclined to compromise on the seniority question today than they were a week ago, before President Harding had intervened.

"The fragmentary peace outline which has been made public presupposes in the first place that the railroads can re-absorb all who walked out and at the same time retain the new men taken on," Walber declared today.

"There is not enough shop work to permit this. And I know that during the past few days railway managers on many roads have personally, or by deputy, renewed their pledges to the men now in the shops that their jobs are secure, that they have been taken on on a permanent basis."

"The proposal of a re-hearing by the labor board is opposed as likely to arouse a belief in the minds of the strikers that the board will do something better for them. If the new decision is not an improvement over the old, from labor's point of view, the unrest and illfeeling is merely averted."

Eastern rail heads, presidents and general managers, already are arriving in New York and are conferring informally.

FELDMAN KILLED AS CAR HIT TREE

Abraham Feldman of This City, on Way to New York, Meets Death in Newburgh When Auto Left Road, Crashing Into Wayside Tree and Fencing.

Abraham Feldman of No. 112 Wall street died at St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh, of injuries sustained when the auto he was driving left the road at the intersection of Leroy Place and Liberty street in the north end of Newburgh, early this morning. In the car with him was his wife, his son, Nathan, and his daughter, Mrs. Bessie Streeter. Nathan was badly cut about the face. Mrs. Feldman has a broken collar bone and the daughter was also bruised about the body.

From the story as learned over the telephone, the party were on their way to New York city to visit relatives and had left Kingston early this morning in a touring car. Nathan, the son, is a local taxi driver, and as he had been out late Friday night working, he had turned the wheel of the car over to his father, who was not as familiar with the roads as his son.

Entering Newburgh at the intersection of Liberty street and Leroy Place, Mr. Feldman was undecided which turn to take, and before he had settled the matter definitely in his mind the car shot off the road into a wayside tree and then into a fence. Mr. Feldman was literally crushed to pieces by the force of the impact and was hurled to St. Luke's Hospital in an unconscious condition and died there shortly before 7 o'clock, having lived about an hour after the accident.

Nathan Feldman, who sat with his father, escaped serious injury, while the two women were only slightly hurt. The car, which was a Studebaker, was badly wrecked.

About 9:15 o'clock this morning Morris Kaplan of North Front street received a telephone call from Nathan Feldman that the latter's father had been killed at Newburgh and that the auto was smashed, but no one else badly hurt. Mr. Kaplan was requested to notify the Feldman family and Stock & Cordts, the undertakers.

The dead man was one of the owners of Clermont Hall, formerly Pythian Hall, corner Wall and John streets. He was a shoemaker by trade and conducted a business in that line in Kingston until a few years ago, when he went into the taxicab business with his sons, Nathan, Harry and Samuel, all being chauffeurs. They survive him besides his wife and two daughters.

HOOCH RAIDERS AT STONE RIDGE

Armed with search warrants issued by County Judge Fowler on affidavits made and information given by out of town men, Sheriff Kolts, Under Sheriff Haukenbeck and Deputy Seth Jocelyn Friday afternoon motored to Stone Ridge and made two raids of places there and secured some whiskey and wine. The places raided were the hotel of Julius Stern and the pool room of John M. Krom. In each place some bottles containing alleged whiskey and some filled with wine were found and sealed and brought along to the court house and turned over to District Attorney Traver who will have the contents of the bottles analyzed. It found to contain liquor of over one-half of one percent alcohol Stern and Krom will be arrested for violation of the Mullan-Gage act. The same party also visited places at Ellenville and Phoenixia recently with search warrants obtained by out of town parties, but it is understood the result of the search was a blank, nothing being found.

NEWBURGH MAN ARRESTED.

He and Companion Accused of Woman's Death.

On charges of homicide, William Claire of Newburgh, and Adam Coppola, former Newburgher, were arrested in Coney Island Thursday night, as the result of an accident in which the automobile they were driving mortally injured Mrs. Darah Fell of Coney Island. Following a hearing Friday both were released under bonds of $2,500 each for a further hearing August 4. Claire is a Newburgh liquor dealer, according to the Newburgh News, and is well known in Kingston.

LANDSLIDE ON WEST SHORE TIED UP TRAFFIC 5 HOURS.

Forty Feet of Track Buried Under Earth.

For five hours Friday morning traffic on the West Shore Railroad was totally tied up by a slide that took place one mile below Storm King and two miles below Cornwall at a spot known as Red Bank. Here, when the night's storm was at its worst, a large quantity of earth, trees and boulders slid across the tracks, blocking both tracks. The debris came from a steep bank between Storm King highway and the railroad line. About forty feet of track was buried to a depth of from three to four feet.

NEWBURGH PLANS COMMUNITY SALES WEEK WITH PARADE

The united committee of nine met Friday afternoon in Newburgh to perfect plans for the community and merchants' sales week which opens Monday in that city. Monday night it is planned to have an auto parade with over two hundred cars in line. The affair will be held in conjunction with the Old Home Week celebration. There will be block parties, music, and community songs.

"IT PAYS TO GET OUT AND HUSTLE," AND C. OF C. WORK SHOWS RESULTS

One of Those Who Have Hustled for the Chamber of Commerce Tells Why He Did it and Why Others Should Support the Chamber.

It pays to get out and hustle for business. This is true in Chamber of Commerce work as well as any other line of business. This was proved quite satisfactorily at the meeting of the membership captains and their workers held last evening.

While the workers have had their prospect cards for several weeks, it was not until this week that they really got down to real work, and the results of their efforts show that Kingston citizens always come to the front when they believe in the value of a movement for the city.

"The Chamber of Commerce has always stood for what was best for the community life of Kingston," says S. M. Bishney, one of the workers. "It is not a one man concern but to the contrary is always endeavoring to express in action the views of the entire city. The board of directors are representative business men from all parts of the city and it is their desire to serve the city as a whole. They are doing their best to secure for Kingston not alone new industries but also new residents for our city. This endeavor can be aided by making Kingston a good place to live in by bringing about community improvements that will tend to attract people here."

"This cannot be accomplished in any better way than by the Chamber of Commerce. The Chamber of Commerce will be of value to Kingston according to the support you give it."

"Come on in and cooperate with those already members, and let us all work together with one object in view—A BETTER KINGSTON."

LOREE PROTESTS TO N. Y. SENATORS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, July 29.—L. F. Loree, chairman of the Eastern Association of Railway Executives, today telegraphed senators of New York, Pennsylvania and Vermont a declaration that President Harding "has made no effort to inform himself as to the position of more than 175,000 shopmen now on the railway payroll whose interests are at stake."

The statement, involving as it does tacit opposition to the president's peace move at a time when the deliberations are in a delicate state, created a sensation in railway circles here.

Loree's telegram to Senator Wadsworth of New York said:

"I spent the morning in Washington on business of the Delaware and Hudson Company and am amazed at information floating about regarding the attitude of the administration in the railway strike."

There followed the quotation given above, and Loree added: "More than 15,000 are in New York state and will naturally look to you to see that their interests are safeguarded. If I can be of any service to you in this connection I can be reached at my New York office."

START BEAR MOUNTAIN BRIDGE CONSTRUCTION THIS FALL.

Terry & Tench, bridge builders, will make application within a few days to the war department for permission to proceed with the erection of a bridge across the Hudson, Bear Mountain to Peekskill. It is expected that actual construction work will be started early this fall. The legislature has already given the permission of the state for the construction of the bridge.

Must Comply Or Quit.

Messrs. Davis, Speder, Vulcanov and McMoran, proprietors of a bus line between Newburgh and Cornwall, have received notice that unless they comply with the requirements fixed by the city in granting consent to their use of Newburgh's streets, steps will be taken to rescind the consent and cancel their franchise.

Duck Swims Home.

Mrs. Frank Lyons, who lives on the Catskill river road, sold a number of ducks to a resident of Greendale, across the Hudson river. The following morning Mrs. Lyons discovered one of the ducks waddling across the lawn in front of her house quacking with delight to be home again, the duck having swam across the river.

Labor Certificates.

PEACE TERMS PROPOSED BY HARDING IN HOPE OF ENDING RAILROAD STRIKE

Basis on Which the President Asks Unions and Rail Executives to Agree—"Seniority" for Everybody and Acceptance of Labor Board Rulings in Future.

Washington, July 29.—President Harding today began the actual drafting of a peace program which he has every confidence will be accepted by both railway executives and strikers and will result in the paralyzing national tie-up ending not later than next Wednesday.

From a high official source it was learned that the president's program is virtually as follows:

1.—Strikers will return to work on all roads at the reduced wage scale recently decreed by the Railway Labor Board, pending a rehearing of the case.

2.—Strikers will return with their seniority rights unimpaired by the walkout, even that those union men who remained on the job shall retain the seniority to which they are legitimately entitled. Seniority for strikebreakers will be determined by their length of service.

3.—Demand for national adjustment board to be left open for future discussion.

4.—Working rules modified by the Railway Labor Board, such as time and a half for overtime, to be made the subject of an early rehearing by the labor board.

5.—Settlement to be based upon a national agreement and not individual or regional agreements.

Back of the whole program lies the understanding, clearly made in the series of White House conferences this week, that when the strike is over, both sides hereafter will live up to the decisions of the labor board. It is the firm conviction of President Harding and his advisers that 50 per cent of the present trouble can be traced to the fact that both sides have disregarded the board's decisions and the settlement proposed by the president is predicated upon the understanding that "neither side will be the good."

President Harding himself has described the program as one of compromise. It is known, however, that the railway strike leaders are highly pleased with the terms as outlined. They make concessions in the matter of wages, but by exacting a program which calls for future observance by the railroads of the letter and law of the labor board's decisions, such as in the farming out of repair work, they feel they have won a notable victory.

The one big question was the attitude the 148 executives will take when they meet in New York Tuesday to reply to President Harding's proposals and to formulate a policy.

So far as labor is concerned, the program has already been accepted, but that it will not have smooth sailing through the meeting of the 148 executives in New York on Tuesday was readily admitted today by administration spokesmen.

The "die hard" element among the executives, particularly those who stand out most strongly against any siding on the trouble some seniority issue like W. W. Atterbury, of the Pennsylvania, L. F. Loree, of the Delaware and Hudson, and representatives of the New York Central and Erie lines, are expected to wage a hot fight against acceptance of any proposition involving a recession from their previously announced stand.

The association of executives however, usually acts as a unit, and it is expected the "die hards" will be in the minority at Tuesday's meeting.

The big eastern roads, generally speaking, were not seriously crippled by the shopmen's strike, but the mid-west and western lines were hard hit.

Some of these latter roads have been brought to the verge of suspended operations by the strike, and they are expected to offset the arguments of the eastern lines.

STORM DAMAGES THOSE LINES NEAR NEWBURGH.

The heavy rain and electrical storm of Thursday night and Friday morning badly damaged the telephone system of Newburgh and vicinity. In that city alone thirty-six lines were put out of commission, affecting 130 stations. Thirty toll lines were struck by lightning as was the Hudson river toll cable. Thirty-five lines in Beacon were struck, disabling 88 stations. Highland Falls, Mariborough, Goshen and all places west of Newburgh to Monticello were badly hit. Thursday night a guy wire caught on a trolley service wire in Newburgh and the current charged the pole so that for some time a flame shot out from the top. The fire alarm system in Newburgh was also affected. In Kingston the storm did not do much damage although a number of telephones were temporarily placed out of commission.

UNIONS TO ACCEPT PRESIDENT'S PLAN

Strike Settlement Will Depend on Action of Railway Executives—Strike Ends Soon or Fight Will be a Fight.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Chicago, July 29.—Developments arising from the conferences at Washington between President Harding and leaders of the striking railway shopmen gave rise here today as the walkout entered its fifth week, to the belief that the coming week either will see the issue definitely settled or conditions created that will postpone settlement until a new side-saddle is fought to the end of their careers.

The belief prevails in usually well informed circles that the conference of the ninety general chairmen of the shopmen's unions to be held here Tuesday will result in tentative acceptance by the unions of the plan of settlement reported to have been proposed by President Harding. Although details of the president's plan are unknown here, the calling of the conference was taken as an indication that the plan had met with the approval of B. M. Jewell, leader of the strikers, and members of his executive committee who have been conferring with the president.

Settlement of the strike was believed in labor circles here to hinge upon the stand to be taken by the railway executives in New York next Thursday.

If the railway executives accept President Harding's plan, it is believed the strike may end by Wednesday or Thursday.

Jewell and the members of his executive board were expected to return here today and begin plans for Tuesday's meeting. Telegrams summoning the general chairmen to the conference were sent out last night.

If the shopmen accept President Harding's plan, it is considered certain that the stationary firemen and others, who have joined the strike, will take similar action.

That the attitude of the carriers toward the restoration of seniority rights to the strikers may continue to prove the stumbling block in the path of settlement was indicated by the announcement here of a high railway official that western roads will "stand out" on their policy of protecting employees who remained at work and those who have entered the service since the strike began.

Strike leaders here pointed to the collapse of the move of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad to reach a separate agreement with its employees as an indication that the union ranks are solid and that the only settlement that will be accepted will be one that is national in scope.

Generally speaking, the fourth week of the strike has been comparatively free from disorders of a serious nature.

Railroads continue to advance claims of normal service and contend that such curtailment as has resulted is due more to the coal strike situation than to the shopmen's walkout. The unions contend that rail equipment is rapidly deteriorating for lack of expert repairs and that a break-down in the transportation system is imminent unless the strike is soon settled.

The heavy rain and electrical storm of Thursday night and Friday morning badly damaged the telephone system of Newburgh and vicinity. In that city alone thirty-six lines were put out of commission, affecting 130 stations. Thirty toll lines were struck by lightning as was the Hudson river toll cable. Thirty-five lines in Beacon were struck, disabling 88 stations. Highland Falls, Mariborough, Goshen and all places west of Newburgh to Monticello were badly hit. TO SEEK SUPPORT FOR BOY SCOUT MOVEMENT

The Kiwanis Club of Kingston and a number of interested citizens throughout the county, asked the Boy Scout headquarters at New York to send a field man for the purpose of organizing a County Council. Nobel R. Randall was sent here for that purpose and, without any expense to the local council, spent four weeks in perfecting an organization.

The financial work of the district is being taken in charge by the Kiwanis Club. They will be assisted by several workers in raising the necessary funds.

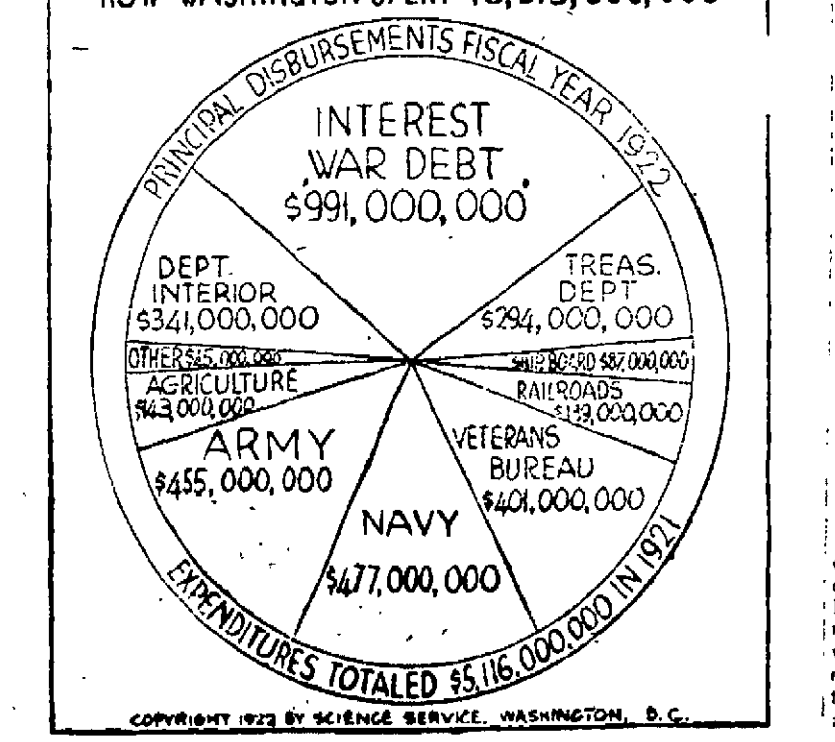

The city has been divided into wards and beginning next Tuesday contributions will be asked for the support of the Boy Scout Movement.

The Road to Insanity.

A distinguished British alienist commenting upon Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's American visit and lectures upon spiritualism, says that carefully compiled statistics of British lunatic asylums show that over thirty thousand people have lost their minds in the pursuit of spiritualism, and had become so hopelessly insane that they will converse only with what they imagine to be the spirits of the dead.

GOOD ROADS

MAKE TESTS ON BATES ROAD

Has 63 Different Sections and Represents That Many Kinds of Construction.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)

Final series of tests on one of the largest and most comprehensive road experiments ever attempted began March 27. This road, located at Bates, Illinois, was designed and constructed by the Illinois division of highways under the direction of Clifford Older, chief highway engineer, with the bureau of public roads, United States Department of Agriculture co-operating. It is two miles long and includes 63 different sections representing as many different methods and kinds of construction, having various thicknesses of concrete, cement grout and asphalt-filled brick as well as asphalt concrete and concrete with rolled stone bases.

Since the completion of its construction in April, 1921, a corps of engineers has been kept busy making observations for effect of temperature changes, static and repeated loads and sub-grade conditions, thus collecting data which when analyzed will supplement the information necessary for the rational design of roads.

The road will now be subjected to the final test, that of very heavy truck traffic, for the application of which will be used a fleet of 10 motor trucks received by the state from the surplus of the War department. At first these trucks will be lightly loaded, but as the test progresses the load will be increased until a maximum is reached giving a 12,000-pound rear wheel load. The results will show definitely the types of pavements which can be expected to support heavy traffic, as well as those which will not satisfy the requirements of such traffic conditions as might be expected during the next 10 or 20 years.

The careful observation of the various sections in the absence of traffic which has formed the first part of the investigation, it is expected, will enable the engineers to ascertain the structural weaknesses which cause such failures as may take place in the traffic tests.

After the experiment has been completed, this road with its broken sections replaced will form a part of Illinois federal aid project No. 13 from Springfield, Illinois, to St. Louis, Missouri.

The test will be carried on under the direction of Clifford Older, with H. F. Clemmer in direct charge of the experimental work and R. R. Benedict in charge of the trucks and maintenance. The bureau of public roads will be represented by A. T. Goldbeck and C. A. Hogenberger.

ROADS PAY DIVIDENDS

A wagon with a load of 3,000 pounds required an average draft of 108 pounds on a gravel road in dry condition, in a recent test at the Missouri College of Agriculture. The same load on a dry clay road required a draft of 321 pounds. This shows the great variation in the work done in hauling and in the size of load a team can handle, says J. C. Wooley, chairman of the agricultural engineering department, which conducted this test. The gravel roads prove their value even more completely under spring conditions. This had on the same roads after a heavy rain required a draft of 150 pounds on the gravel, and 372 pounds on the clay. This is only one of the many advantages offered by all-the-year roads.

Unnecessary Practice.

Oiling a concrete road or any properly surfaced highway is not only a nuisance to the public, but is a lamentable waste of a natural resource, says H. H. Franklin, who claims that the oiling system, a hold-over from the experimental days, is no longer necessary and should be abandoned.

Towers to Control Traffic.

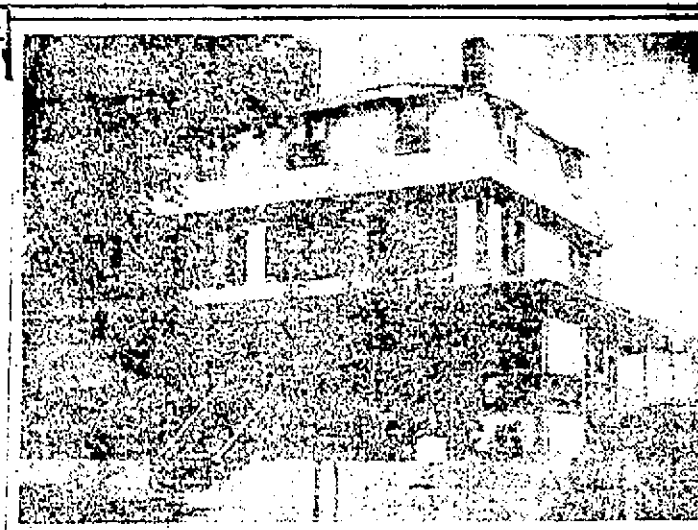

Towers, erected in the middle of streets and highways for the control of traffic, were first operated in Paris in 1910.

Great Public Benefactor.

Ching-Nung is reputed to have been the original teacher of how to make bread from wheat and wine from rice, about 1908 B. C. Baking of bread was known in patriarchal times and became a profession in Rome in 250 B. C.

Mike Di Carlo's Guests

Mike Di Carlo's Home

When Mike Di Carlo made a fortune in his butcher shop at Lynn, Mass., he went over to exclusive Nahant and bought the fashionable residence shown in the lower picture. Then, Mike having nothing of the selfish in his make-up, he invited the poor of Lynn, regardless of creed, color or anything else, to be his guests and make merry in his home. They did, and the bluebloods of the summer colony complained that his gatherings were disorderly. Mike was arrested—and freed at once, with praise from the magistrate. The upper picture shows a wagonload of Lynn's poor on their way to Mike's home in Nahant.

GOAT BUTTED IN GULPING BALL

Umpire Had to Decide Highly Technical Point in Game Between Gallupers and Busters—Quick Wit of "Raiser" Turk Wins Game for Gallupers in Mountain League.

The lot of a baseball umpire is far from a happy one whether he is presiding at a session on the sand lots, in the big time or the famous Mountain League. Every time he calls one he is either praised or knocked by the fans, and no two ball fans have ever been known to agree on a decision handed down by an umpire.

That fact is simply preliminary to the tale of the goat who butted into a Mountain League game between the Gallupers and the Busters, and as a result the decision made by the umpire created a lot of talk throughout the remainder of the season and as long as baseball is played in the mountains. Some say the umpire was right, others that he was wrong.

It was a hot day the latter part of July when the Busters breezed into town to play off the series with the Gallupers on the latter's home lot. The weather was sizzling hot and so was the game that afternoon. It was anybody's game up to the last frame when the Gallupers showed one run across the platter, and led by a score of 1 to 0.

The Busters then came in for their half of the last frame determined to at least even up the score and send the game into extra innings. The Gallupers were equally determined to hold what advantage they had. Captain Roadbox, himself, was tossing them over for the Gallupers and he surely had something on the ball that day for not a clean hit had been made off his delivery that afternoon. The first two Busters went down on strikes and an stopped Captain Twin Gormley of the Busters. He wore a wicked grin, and swung a mean bat. For all his skill, however, he had not been able to knock a ball outside the diamond. Now, however, he was determined to put the ball where it would do the most good. It looked as though he would follow his team mates by the strike-out route for the first two balls over he swung at and missed by inches.

The third ball he caught on the end of his stick and away it sailed out toward left field fence. As "Raiser" Turk, the fast left fielder of the Gallupers ran for the flying ball a Billy goat ambled out in the field near the fence and began chewing the grass. Suddenly the goat yawned as he gazed skyward with sleepy eyes. Suddenly the goat opened his mouth to its full extent the baseball dropped squarely into it.

The goat gulped twice and the ball disappeared.

Here was a fine how to do, but "Raiser" Turk was equal to the occasion. As Gormley was sprinting around the bases determined to make his hit a circuit clout "Raiser" picked up the goat and with the animal under his arms dashed in reaching third base a few feet ahead of Gormley.

The umpire scratched his head in perplexity and then declared Gormley out ruling that the ball had reached third base ahead of the runner.

"How do you make that out?" asked Gormley tragically. "The goat are the ball didn't it?"

"That's all right," retorted the umpire, "but even though the ball is inside the goat 'Raiser' here got the goat to the bag ahead of you."

And that is how the Gallupers won the first game of the series as the "out" made the third, and the final score was 1 to 0.

They are still discussing the umpire's decision in the Mountain League.

ANNA LOUISE BEERS

Anna Louise Beers, three-year-old heiress to the $3,500,000 estate of Captain Edward Morrison, of Chicago, is in a charity ward in the Cook County (Ill.) Hospital. Police are endeavoring to find her mother, who is said to be touring the country, stopping at the best hotels and watering places, dressed in the finest of gowns. The neglect of the mother is alleged to have extended over more than a year, and the Juvenile Court has found, clothed and housed the child for fifteen months. "She was snatched as she played with her battered, borrowed doll. 'Her hasn't got any shoes either,' said the child, sadly, 'but her's got a mamma!'"

This interesting character study of Mrs. Clara Phillips, the woman accused of the "Stone Age" murder of Mrs. Alberta Meadows in Los Angeles, was made by George Grant, the foremost California artist, and shows the light mood in which she views the terrible crime for which she is held.

Accident Near West Park.

Friday while the Dodge car of Alexander Altman of New York was coming down the hill near the railroad crossing between West Park and Esopus it began to skid owing to the slippery condition of the road due to the rain. At the same time a Ford car driven by Mr. Abrahamson, agent for the T. S. Adams Company of New York, was on the way up the hill. Both cars came together and were quite badly damaged. They were towed to Mott's garage at Esopus for repairs. One of the men is said to have received a broken nose and the other was cut about the hands as a result of the collision.

Out of Door Service at the "Y."

The services held each Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock, outside the local Y. M. C. A. building, are attracting exceptionally large numbers and each service brings new members to the devotion. This Sunday evening the speaker will be the Rev. Dr. Boeve, pastor of the First Reformed Church of this city. A fine musical program is also rendered along with good solo work. If the weather is unfavorable, the service will be conducted in the "Y" building.

Forty Hours at Wilbur.

The solemn devotion of the Forty Hours' Adoration will be opened in Holy Name Church, Wilbur, on this Sunday at the 9 o'clock Mass. Monday evening the sermon will be delivered by the Rev. Joseph G. Cushman of St. Joseph's Church, and on Tuesday evening the sermon will be delivered by the Very Rev. Dean Hickey, on which occasion the devotion will be closed with solemn benediction.

Once After Huckleberries.

Deputy County Treasurer Dwight McEntee, Deputy County Clerk Walter Geroldsek and Severn B. Carle of the county clerk's office started this afternoon for Watson Hollow on a huckleberry picking expedition, and as they took along some baskets and good sized tin pails it is the impression of those who had knowledge of their going that an advanced tip had been given as to a spot where the berries could be found in abundance.

Groves at Shawangunk.

Special City Judge Robert G. Groves of this city spoke on "Town and Village Government" at the Reformed Church Hall at Shawangunk Friday evening. The meeting was a series of civic courses being held in the various villages under the auspices of the Ulster County Farm Bureau. Judge Groves' address was both interesting and instructive.

Cruise Still Fighting.

John Cruise, Jr., demoted chief of the Hudson police department, has been granted a writ of certiorari by Supreme Court Justice Wesley O. Howard of Troy, requiring the public safety commission of the city of Hudson to provide copies of the minutes of his trial that the appellate division of the supreme court may review them.

STRIKING SHOPMEN ISSUE

AN ADDRESS TO COMMUTERS

The following address to commuters have been issued by the striking railroad shopmen:

The shopcraft workers on the New York Central Lines and other railroads in the Metropolitan district want to say a few words to the commuters and other passengers on these roads.

We regret that the strike is causing you trouble. We regret that it will cause you an increasing amount of trouble until it is settled.

We ask your forbearance as American citizens and lovers of liberty.

This strike is the last resource of men and women who have tried every path to honorable peace and found them closed. Neither you nor any other honorable man or woman could, or would, have acted otherwise.

This is a strike for economic freedom—for the inalienable right of every American citizen to a decent living.

The wage cuts against which we are striking would reduce our earnings to less than the amount stated by the United States Department of Labor as being necessary for a decent living. At present this wage buys less than our wages did in 1899.

We have used every honorable means to avoid a strike. We have obeyed the Transportation Act to the letter.

We tried to settle with the company and we presented our case to the Labor Board. Had the board obeyed the law we should not have struck. The law requires the board's decisions to be based on the cost of living. The board has flouted the law and seeks to deny us a decent living.

We have struck and in striking we have again obeyed the law. We have not compulsory arbitration in this country. The same law that created the Labor Board guaranteed our right to be free men in a free land and to strike as a final protest against intolerable justice.

Rare Child Hurt.

Friday evening the young child of Edward Rarey fell from one of the slides at Canfield Park. The child was taken to the office of Dr. Dan Connelly on Henry street where it was found that the youngster was more frightened than hurt.

Society Notes

A Birthday Party.

Miss Rita McCordle was given a birthday party at her home, No. 22 Davis street, in honor of her fifth birthday Friday afternoon by a number of her little friends. The afternoon was passed by playing games. Those present were Catherine Quigley, Ed Tongue, Raymond Schick, Charles Robinson, Charles Schick and James Scully. Refreshments were served and the guests returned home expressing that they all had had an enjoyable time.

Potter-Meeker.

F. Claude R. Potter of Port Ewen, son of Mrs. E. A. D. Potter and the late Rev. E. Sterling Potter of the New York conference, and Miss Margaret E. Meeker of Kingston were married Saturday morning at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Matilda Meeker. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. E. Compton, pastor of Asbury Memorial Church of Tuckahoe, N. Y., a personal friend of the groom's family. They were attended by Basil C. Potter, a brother of the groom, and Miss Ann Hurley of Kingston. Members of both families witnessed the ceremony. After a two weeks wedding trip they will reside at Port Ewen.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

The funeral of John Donahue, who died Wednesday afternoon was held this morning from his late home, 66 East Pierpont street, at 3:45, and at 9 o'clock from St. Mary's Church, where a high Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of his soul by the Rev. Bernard W. Reardon. The Rev. Dean Hickey sat within the chancel. The casket bearers were Michael Broderick, Patrick Kilroy, Michael Keating, William E. Powers, Thomas Ludden and John C. Mahoney. A delegation from the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen of which deceased was a member attended the funeral, and conducted the services at the grave. The profusion of beautiful tributes bore silent testimony of the esteem in which Mr. Donahue was held by a large circle of friends and fellow employees. Interment was in the family plot in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Joseph P. Kenny died this morning at his home in Port Ewen. Mr. Kenny was a well known boatman throughout this state, having served his apprenticeship on the Delaware and Hudson Canal. At the close of the D. & H., Mr. Kenny embarked in the barge and lighterage business in New York city. Besides his widow he is survived by four daughters, Sarah, Anna, Agnes and Catherine, and one brother, Michael Kenny of Garrison, N. Y., and three sisters, Mrs. Agnes Illies and Mrs. Mary McNelis of Port Ewen and Mrs. Christopher Kieren of Pittsfield, Mass. Mr. Kenny was well known in his city and belonged to the local council of the Knights of Columbus and Order of Elks. The funeral will be held from the late residence in Port Ewen on Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock and from the Church of the Presentation, Port Ewen, at 10 o'clock, where a solemn Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul. The interment will be in the family plot in St. Mary's Cemetery, this city.

The funeral of Maxwell L. Russell, who was drowned at Leggs Mills on Wednesday, was held this morning from his late home on West Chestnut street. The funeral service was in charge of Dr. Ellis of the Roundout Presbyterian Church to which church the deceased belonged. In his remarks Dr. Ellis paid a glowing tribute to the sterling character of the boy and spoke of him as one who in the short time that he had resided in this city had by his bright disposition and sterling character won his way into the hearts and minds of all who came in contact with him. Dr. Ellis spoke words of comfort to the family of the boy reminding them of the fact that no doubt the boy's work on this earth which had already been so fruitful was done because of which he had been called home to be at rest and peace. The service was very impressive and was attended by a large number of the friends of the deceased. The floral tributes were large and profuse among them being a large wreath from the graduating class of 1922 of which the young man was an honored member.

LEONARD CATHEOU TOOK

DOSE OF IODINE IN N. Y.

Out of work for many weeks, Leonard Catheou of Ulster Park was discharged from Bellevue Hospital, New York city, Thursday as cured of a case of iodine poisoning.

Policeman McCarthy, of the West Forty-seventh street station, reported that Catheou was found prostrate and groaning in West Forty-fifth lane and that an empty bottle was found which had contained three ounces of iodine.

Prompt first aid treatment by the patrolman and the ambulance surgeon, Dr. Amizak, saved the man's life. He gave as a motive for his actions the fact that he had been consistently unsuccessful in obtaining employment. The hospital authorities have notified his mother.

BOY SCOUTS

BUSINESS MEN IN SCOUTING

Barron Collier of New York City is typical of some of the biggest business men in the country who are devoting much time to boy scout interests. Mr. Collier is a man of very extensive national business interests. He is vice chairman of the Greater New York committee, of which Franklin D. Roosevelt is chairman. Mr. Collier is himself chairman of the camping committee for Greater New York, which is operating at this time the largest boys' camp in the world.

Barron Collier.

This camp is located at Kanohwahke lakes, Bear mountain, Interstate Park, New York. This camp accommodates 2,700 boys per week and consists of 21 different mess units. Boys come not only from Greater New York but from Westchester county, New York state, and many communities in New Jersey.

It is through the interest of men like Mr. Collier, Mr. Roosevelt, Mortimer L. Schiff, and others, that accomplishments of this kind are possible.

BOY SCOUTS NUMBER 432,013

It has just been officially announced that the gain in boy scouts during the past full year has been 18,544. This makes the present total of boy scouts 432,013, the high water mark in the history of scouting. The number of scout officials in the country today is 127,588, making a grand total of 559,601 scouts and scout officials.

These figures were given out in a report of the chief scout executive at a meeting of the executive board of the national council of the Boy Scouts of America, which was held a short time ago. This was the last meeting of the executive board until fall.

Other figures showing a great constant increasing interest in scouting, the country over, are that during the past five months of this year a total of 57,000 merit badges were obtained by scouts as compared with 40,736 for the same period last year, or a gain of 41 per cent. The merit badges are the awards of merit that a scout attains after he goes on the ladder from a first class scout. Five hundred and sixty-seven boys have qualified as eagle scouts, as compared with 329 during the same period of last year. Eagle scout represents the highest standard of scouting that a boy can attain.

All of the above figures are very significant of the onward march of the largest movement for boys in the world that has to do with character building and citizenship training.

SASH IS THE ONLY TRIMMING

A walking frock which is delightful in its simplicity is Persian in design, a sash with long fringe on the bottom being the only trimming.

THE TUB SILKS ARE POPULAR

Material May Be Developed Into Most Charming Summer Frocks; Cottons and Linens Used.

One of the most charming warm weather frocks is made of a tub silk, plain checked in red and white, and trimmed with bands of red and white faille ribbon. A white organdie collar finishes it at the neck. Small red silk covered buttons also appear on the dress. It is cut on straight lines and is of the wrap type. There is a slight blousing at the waist line and a flaring self fabric bow set on at one side adds its chic touch.

Tub silks are being used very extensively this season. They appear in delicate checks and stripes as well as in attractive flowered designs, and the simplest of trimmings usually are favored. Frequently a tub silk frock will have no trimming at all, being finished at neck and sleeves with dainty lace or embroidery collar and cuffs, with perhaps a plain ribbon sash or belt. This makes laundering the frock an easy matter. Printed crepes that will stand tubbing are also in high favor.

Cotton fabrics and silks divide honors about equally when the choice of materials for warm weather frocks is to be made. The tub silks and crepes are as easy to launder as the cotton and linen fabrics and they usually seem a little more dressy, but the crisp cottons and the soft, characterful linens certainly have much in their favor, and with so many interesting novelties both in weave and coloring to choose from the average woman finds them irresistible.

The cape and dress vogue finds linens and many of the heavier cottons desirable, sponge being used to make many smart costumes of this character. More frequently than not the cape or coat and skirt of the frock will be white, with low waisted blouse in a pastel or vivid color such as coral, blue or green.

Printed satens are used to fashion some very smart summer frocks on rather tailored lines, with handings or pipings in plain color and possibly plain color cloth buttons as the trimming.

BEWARE OF BATEAU NECKLINE

Every Woman Should Determine Which Style Is Most Becoming to Her and Wear No Other.

Every woman should find which of the various modish necklines are becoming to her, and wear no other. Although there is little variation between the bateau and the slightly-rounded neckline there is a world of difference in the becomingness to the various types of femininity. The bateau neckline from shoulder to shoulder is most flattering to some women, but if one is slightly inclined to broad shoulders it is not the line to wear.

This brings up a point which so many women do not seem to realize, and which is the most obvious one in the world. Just because you see a frock you like, and which seems to flatter the femininity of the women you see it on, do not immediately feel certain that this is the frock for you.

If you like someone else in a frock with a bateau or square neckline, study you type and find out what is becoming to you. If you have a leaning toward the season's new ruffs, study your complexion and see if you can wear rust and that tint of it is best. Know your figure and wear styles which express yourself. The prevailing fashion must of necessity guide you, but it need not govern you with a rod of iron.

Making Daisies.

A milk daisy is an easy flower to make. It consists of eight petals of the same size and shape. The petals are formed by cutting two round disks each five inches in diameter; then quarter them, and each quarter represents a petal. The Designer Magazine, the two straight sides are sewed together and the rounded edges at the bottom gathered closely. The center is a covered cotton ball attached to a lightweight buckram disk about one inch in diameter.

Cleaning Hint.

When you're cleaning house sprinkle the clothes closets with a little water in which tobacco has been steeped and then sprinkle with a little spirit of camphor. The latter destroys the odor of the former and together they will prevent annoyance by moths.

BRAZIL, Aged One Hundred

Rio in its Valleys Among Towering Peaks.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)

Just as the United States celebrated with an exposition in 1876 the completion of the first century of its independence, so Brazil will celebrate next September her first centenary as a nation by means of a great world fair in Rio de Janeiro.

It is an occasion and a ceremony which the people of the United States are particularly well fitted to understand and appreciate. In a number of ways Brazil stands where the United States stood 46 years ago, though in many others, of course, this neighbor to the south, equipped with modern machinery and assisted by modern methods, is far in advance of the United States of 1876.

Brazil is much more than "one of the South American republics." In area it is in a class with the United States. Its flag floats over practically one-half of South America and one-fifth of the western hemisphere. Leaving Alaska out of consideration, Brazil is actually 200,000 square miles greater than the United States! It has boundaries of greater or less length in common with every other country in South America except Ecuador and Chile. The land boundary of Brazil, following all the twistings of rivers and mountain ranges, is probably not far from 10,000 miles long, and there is a coastline of 6,000 miles as well. The largest river in the world, tremendous potential water power, and huge deposits of minerals are among some of the other physical features that mark Brazil out for big things.

It is particularly in the possession of vast, undeveloped resources that Brazil is comparable to the United States of half a century ago. It too, has its West; but it is a West strikingly different from the plains country of central North America. The equator crosses northern Brazil, and more than nine-tenths of the huge country lies within the tropics. Brazil's West consists for the most part of a dense tropical forest—a veritable ocean of verdure—rich in hard woods and rubber trees. Into this largely undeveloped country stretches the broad Amazon and its tributaries up which ocean vessels steam for 1,000 miles—so though ocean steamers in our own country could steam up the Mississippi and Ohio past Cincinnati, River steamers ascend the main streams for another 1,000 miles and run up numerous tributaries for several hundred miles. The possession of this great Amazon waterway and its network of tributaries greatly cheapens transportation in Brazil in comparison with a country in which dependence must be placed largely on railroads.

Heart of Brazil Is Southeast.

In addition to its northern forests, Brazil has a prairie country in its "Middle West"—the south-central portion of the country lying north of Paraguay and extending northward into the hill country. Large herds of cattle are grazed and there is room for great expansion of the industry.

The southeastern edge of Brazil, paradoxically, is the heart of the country. The white population, numbering probably between 5,000,000 and 10,000,000 is largely concentrated in the region of temperate climate in the southern coastal highlands which extend inland 200 to 300 miles. This region includes the southeasternmost states of Rio Grande do Sul, Santa Catarina, Parana, Sao Paulo, Rio de Janeiro, Espirito Santo and Minas Gerais.

Northward along the coast is Brazil's "black belt," where negro slaves and their descendants are more numerous than elsewhere in the country. Inland are the Indians, many of them uncivilized.

Brazil's temperate region along the South Atlantic coast is the region to which manufacturing enterprise is largely confined, just as it was to our own North Atlantic coast a half century ago. As yet manufacturing plays only an unimportant part in the country's life, but textile factories, tanneries and meat packing plants, as well as various other industrial establishments are on the increase. This portion of Brazil's map is peppered with cities and towns and is covered with a close network of railroads. It is in this climatically delightful region of Brazil that is developed the country's chief industry—coffee growing. Thousands of square miles are covered by the orchards of trees which make Brazil the foremost coffee producing country in the world.

Brazil is not backward in railroad construction, having 20,000 miles of track. Yet so vast is the country that railway construction seems barely begun. Brazil has yet to build its transcontinental lines. With a single exception the railroads are confined to a belt along the coast from 250 to 450 miles deep. The exception is the road extending from the port of Santos 500 miles westward to Porto Esperanca on the Parana river.

Rio de Janeiro, capital of Brazil, in which the exposition celebrating the centenary of Brazilian independence is to be held, has a population between a million and a million and a half, and is therefore one of the greatest of cities. It shares roughly with Vienna, Osaka, Peking, Hankow and Calcutta the rank of tenth city of the world. In South America it is surpassed in size only by Buenos Aires. Set in a series of valleys, backed and all but encircled by mountain hills clad in a riot of tropical vegetation, and with a magnificent harbor at its feet, Rio de Janeiro is one of the most beautiful of the cities of the world. Man's hand has heaped nature in bringing about this beauty. Broad boulevards rim the deep crevasses of the harbor and the rugged, picturesque adjoining coast; one of the most famous of botanical gardens has been created; and avenues are lined by towering palms, while stately buildings are set in spacious parks.

"As Multicolored and Varied in Beauty as the Butterflies of the Tropics" is the characterization of the recent visitor to the metropolis of Brazil. "In splendor of hue and setting this great city of the South is unrivaled the world over. Here granite peaks and turquoise seas, tropical forest and rainbow-tinted town, meet and harmonize.

"This city of lure terraces up from a glorious bay the Bay of Guanabara mountain-enclosed. Isles-bowled. From the shore, where parks and boulevards are fast crowding out the old Rio of narrow streets, rise forested hills on whose slopes the leveler portion of the city lies.

Rio Seen From the Mountains.

To see Rio at its best and loveliest one must go to these mountains that tower over the city. Turning backward, one looks down through a frame of tangled vines and branches, onto the tree-tops of the sloping virgin forest. Far below, set in verdure, gleams the kaleidoscopic city, with its crescent shores in numerous cressents the creaming sea meets the beaches—Formosa, Santa Lucia, Lapa, Gloria, Flamingo, Botafogo, Vermelha. The bay, set in its amphitheater of hills, smiles like a sapphire. To and fro among the ships at anchor ply the busy paddle-wheel ferry-boats to the islands and to Niteroy, the little sister city across the bay. In the distance tower the blue spires of the lofty Organ mountains.

Oceanward one looks down on volcanic granite mountains rising sheer from the sea. There is rocky Baby-lonia, and flat-topped Gavea, like a great sail unfurled. Between them lies Rio's suburban beach-land—Lagoa, Anilama, Ipanema, Leblon—in a glittering chain, their white villas nestling between hill and shore. The Avenida Atlântica, which connects them, is equaled only by boulevards along the Mediterranean.

One can motor from the city to these hills, and on a Gavea over a new road cut in the rock high above the sea, climb to the divide at Tijuca, and drop down, on the bay side of the range, to its starting place in the city—a vicer circuit of forty miles or more.

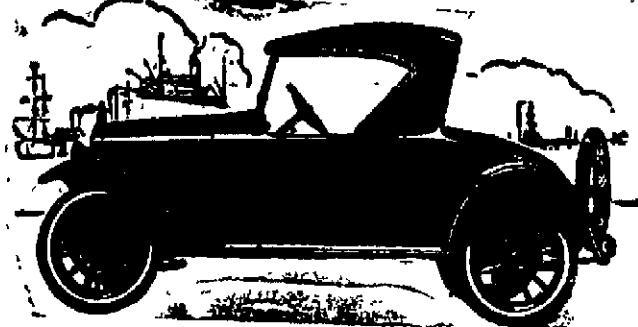

Avenida Rio Grande, Rio's finest thoroughfare was "holed made" after the city had attained practically its present extent. In 1904 it was decided to carve this great modern avenue out of the city, over 600 homes being sacrificed.

The avenue more than a mile in length and so wide that it consists of two distinct boulevards separated by a row of shade trees, is thronged day and night with automobiles.

That a battery is never as efficient in cold weather as it is in warm—owing to a number of causes. In the first place, the battery itself loses some of its power when the temperature is lowered and fails to deliver as much current, even when fully charged, as it will during warmer weather. In addition to this, it is more difficult for the self-starter to turn the engine over when the latter is cold and an extra strain is therefore placed on the battery. Finally, cold weather presupposes shorter days and a greater use of light, another factor which must be taken into consideration.

It is therefore well to pay particular attention to the "heart" of the car during the winter and particularly in the early spring when its vitality is apt to be quite low. Distilled water should, of course, be added at regular intervals—weekly inspections of the water-level in the cells are always advisable—and at least once a year the entire battery should be taken apart and the sediment from the plates cleaned out. If this is done in the spring, the energy created during the summer will usually carry the battery through the succeeding winter without any trouble.

AUTOMOBILE GOSSIP

A motorist should be as clever in backing a car as he is when driving forward.

Two-thirds of all breakdowns are caused by improper or insufficient lubrication.

A slipping clutch is not only a strain on the engine, but causes waste of power and fuel.

Qualities Statesmen Require.

The statesman of today requires as comprehensive a vision and as profound a wisdom as those of former times, with intense labor, and a far wider range of knowledge; but he requires other gifts once scarcely needed; for he has not only to decide what ought to be done, and the wisest way to do it, but he has to do it or as much of it as he can, in the face of obstacles which would have baffled Mazurin, and before which Chatham and Walpole might well have stood aghast. To be useful and great he must carry the nation along with him, and be the embodiment of its soberest and maturest wisdom.—David Gregg.

GIRLS LEARN AUTO-MECHANIC TRADE

How would you like to have your car repaired by a member of the fair sex? That is just what is being done in Milwaukee. Girls from many sections of the city are learning the auto-mechanic trade, so it will not be long before your bus will be cared for by woman herself.

ENGINE TEASERS HAVE POOR CARS

Certain Type of Drivers Cannot Resist Temptation to Fool With Carburetor.

GRIND VALVES WHEN NEEDED

Compound Must Be Carefully Wiped Out at Finish, Otherwise Cylinder Walls Will Be Worn Out—Plug Up Openings.

There is a certain type of motorcar driver who, whenever the engine doesn't perform properly, immediately begins to adjust the carburetor. Another type files a dollar's worth of metal from the interrupter points. And still another wants to grind the valves every other day.

These fellows are engine teasers and no matter what is wrong with the car they think adjusting the carburetor, grinding the valves or filing the interrupter points will make the engine well again. Consequently they usually have a faulty car—because they persist in teasing it constantly.

Don't Grind Valves. Don't grind your valves—until they actually need it. Don't be forever fussing with the engine. Don't imagine that every little trouble has its origin in the engine—it will get you into trouble if you do.

I have seen cases where valves have been ground so deep in the casting that the seat was at the bottom of a "well," and when the valve was pushed open there was very little space for the passage of exhaust gases writes B. W. Cooke, president of the Cope Trade and Engineering school, in an exchange. A little more grinding would have worn through the castings and left no seat at all.

If the valve sets in the cylinder care should be taken to plug up all openings leading to the cylinder so that no grinding compound may work inside. Also, the grinding compound must be carefully wiped out at the finish—otherwise it will keep on grinding and wear out the cylinder walls.

It is well to check up the push rod clearance before and after valve grinding; before, because there may not be enough clearance to allow the valve to seat, thus causing the leak which appears to make grinding necessary—afterward, because there may be a slight lowering of the valve, making adjustment necessary.

Grinding Is Harmful.

Before grinding make sure that the valve needs it and do not grind any more than is necessary. After you have ground enough to give a tight seat all further effort expended is waste. In addition, it is harmful to the engine.

Therefore grind your valves only when they need it, but do not grind them on general principles or longer than to make a perfect seat. And don't be an engine teaser.

You Auto Know

That the carburetor strainer should be cleaned and drained regularly in order that no dirt can pass into this delicate mechanism, which is, in reality, the "lungs" of the automobile. Trouble with the carburetor is generally due to the presence of some tiny bit of dirt which has passed the strainer and which, like a morsel of food swallowed "the wrong way," interferes with the breathing. Even the smallest particle of foreign matter in the needle valve or the intake valve of the vaporizer will cause the engine to splutter and spit and it is seldom that this trouble can be eradicated until the dirt or dust has been removed.

Even the straining of gasoline through wire gauze or a piece of chamols does not do away with the danger from fouling the carburetor, for a considerable amount of sediment always accumulates in the gasoline tank, and this will be carried forward to the carburetor. For this reason, the strainer itself should be drained off regularly and then thoroughly cleaned, in order to insure the proper function of the "lungs of the car."

WHY STAMFORD IS PROSPEROUS

Advertising All the Year and Public Spirit That Leads to Intelligent Cooperation Combine to Bring Business—August Rush Expected.

A general survey of the Catskill mountain boarding house season leads one to the conclusion that of all the towns along the line of the Ulster and Delaware railroad Stamford stands out as the most prosperous in proportion to the amount of business which it is possible to fall to her, taking into consideration the hotel accommodations, which as far as quality is concerned are the best, she has at the disposal of the summer vacationists. In order to back up this rather general statement it might be well to look at the present condition and also the future prospects of a few of the largest hotels in Stamford. Probably the outstanding hotel of the village at the present time is the Rexmere. The Rexmere is the last word in comfort, convenience and modern improvements. This hotel is practically filled at the present writing and, according to the manager, will not be able to take care of any more guests after the coming Sunday as it will have by that time reached its capacity of 250 people. This hotel plans to put on an addition before long which will make provision for fifty more people.

Churchill Hall, owned by the same company as the Rexmere, and answering to the same description as far as comfort and convenience is concerned, is also well filled at the present time and it also expects to reach its quota of 250 before August has progressed very far.

The New Grant House and the Westholm, although smaller than the last two mentioned places, maintain the same high standard of quality and expect to be full by the first of August.

There are a great number of Cubans in Stamford who make a big contribution to the general prosperity of the town because of the fact that when they come to a hotel they do not come for a short period of time but usually plan to stay three or four months.

Naturally, as is always the case, there are some of the hotels in this village which cannot take care of all the people who wish to stay with them while there are others which are having a hard time to obtain boarders. In order to relieve this situation somewhat the Stamford Chamber of Commerce is endeavoring to get the hotels which are overcrowded to turn in the names of the people who desire accommodations and then the Chamber endeavors to place them in a desirable place which if it can be done means that these people who have not been able to get in one hotel will not be lost to Stamford.

Naturally there must be some reason for the existence of these conditions in Stamford. Of course the fundamental reason is that Stamford has something to offer the person who is seeking a vacation. As stated above, their hotel accommodations are of the best, then they have one of the most beautiful golf courses in this section of the state with a clubhouse which is bound to attract a good many people regardless of whether they play golf or not. The scenery is of the best and there are many opportunities for short excursions to places of interest and beauty. However all of this would be of little avail if the people all over the eastern section of the country did not realize that there was such a place. And herein lies the secret of Stamford's success. All the year round she has been conducting an extensive publicity campaign all through the eastern section of the country and she has found, as do all communities, that it has paid.

It might be interesting to note that among the many people who have stopped at this village was a Persian prince by the name of Vedrick Leukardishar who has just come to this country. It was stated by people that interviewed him that his knowledge of American history was wonderful, he being familiar with all the major events in our history and also many of the minor events.

Although some of the other larger summer resorts in the Catskills do not seem to be having quite as prosperous a season as is Stamford still they all look forward to a very successful time during the month of August.

At Tannersville the hotels are not very full at the present time but some of the larger hotels report good bookings for the month of August. The same condition existing here also exists in Haines Falls.

At Fleischmanns the outstanding event of the boarding season was the opening of the New Takanassie, the largest hotel ever put up in Fleischmanns. The hotel will accommodate 300 guests and has a very desirable location in the heart of the pines. It is fire-proof throughout and is equipped with all the modern improvements. All the hotels here are well filled although the season is not what it has been for the last few years.

The season at Phoenicia does not come up to that of other years either but all the places hope for better times during the month of August. Roxmoor Inn will be filled during August.

Thus it may be seen that people generally, due very likely to the cool and rainy weather, are waiting to the month of August to take their vacations. This condition not only exists throughout the Catskills but is general throughout the country.

Painter's Secret.
Use wood alcohol to remove old paint or varnish when about to redecorate furniture. Apply with soft brush, and after a few minutes rub off with old cloths. If paint is very thick and dry more time must be given to "soak," and a putty knife may be needed to remove the worst of the old paint. This will remove old finish exactly as well as the prepared varnish removers, at much less cost. Be careful not to inhale the alcohol, nor get it in the eyes when using.

Sun Still a Mystery.

The sun is a hotter place than the old orthodox hereafter. Its temperature is about 6,000 degrees centigrade. In breadth Old Sol is 865,000 miles across. Compared with him, our earth is like a kernel of popcorn in the center of a dinner plate. But although Old Sol regulates our life, growth and health from a distance of 92,930,000 miles, to be exact, science as yet knows little about him, observes Cupper's Weekly. People realize in their subconscious minds that the sun is closely related to the mystery of life, which is one reason they are forever talking about the weather that is regulated by the sun as completely as a furnace regulates the temperature of a house in winter. But the big day star is almost as much of a mystery to us as he was to the ancients.

PARKER AXLES TO OPPOSE LOCALS

Colonials Will Meet Wetmore's Team Both Saturday and Sunday—Largest Crowds of Season are Expected to Witness Contests.

Freddie Wetmore's Parker Axles of Poughkeepsie will offer the opposition to the Colonial squad at the Kingston Fair Grounds both this afternoon and Sunday. Games will start at 3:30 o'clock.

Local fandom have been looking forward for these games for some time, for they know that both teams will play their best and a good game will result. In recent years contests between these teams proved the big attraction of the season and from the amount of talk by local enthusiasts the record of attendance at those games will far surpass the crowds of former years.

Wetmore has also been looking ahead to this coming event and has signed a number of players who will take part in these games. The Parker Axle team has made an exceptionally good record this year and their best team will perform against the Schrick men. Pitching for the Colonials will be by Culliton and McLaughlin, who from past performances will give Freddie's men an interesting time during their slants.

The results of these games also go toward picking the champions of the Hudson Valley.

CURRENT OFFERINGS AT THE THEATRES

Dorothy Dalton in "The Crimson Challenge" showing again tonight at Keene's is a picture of strong suspense and big dramatic moments. Throughout the development of the story, there isn't a moment that hasn't a thrill of its own. The comedy attraction is Ben Turpin in "Black Sam's" brilliant comedy "Bright Eyes." Monday and Tuesday of the Northwest mounted police "Over the Border," a story of the snow country where smugglers clash with the law with a sensational climax actually filmed in a raking blizzard. Tom Moore is the leading man.

Harry Carey in the most gigantic western story ever filmed, "The Fox," is the action story at the Auditorium tonight. Thousands of horsemen riding like mad across the great Mojave desert also the famous 11th. A Century comedy and the International news are also programmed. Monday is double feature day presenting Norma Talmadge in "The Forbidden City," also Helene Chadwick in "The Angel Factory."

Facts About Bees.

A Belgian scientist found that a bee, weight for weight, is thirty times as strong as a horse. The female bee has a set of waistcoat pockets. When she is engaged in making the cells of the honeycomb, tiny flakes of wax are secreted in these little pouches, from which they are removed by her with her jaws, as needed.

Tagging The Bases.

The Yankees went to the pace in the American League by beating the Browns for the third straight time. Score 7 to 3. Witt's homer with two on in the second marked the beginning of the end. Williams also hit one off the premises, his 23rd of the season.

Making merry at the expense of Singleton and Winters, the Reds took the final game of the series with the Phils 11 to 7. Lee hit two homers, making four for the series.

The White Sox pulled out another extra inning victory over the Red Sox when Amos Strunk tripled, in the tenth, scoring Hooper with the winning run, 4 to 3.

Speakers Indians again took a thoroughgoing beating from the Athletics, 13 to 3.

Managing to get an even break in a double header, 8 to 4 and 4 to 3, the Cards escaped across the bridge under cover of darkness, glad to renounce inhospitable Manhattan. They dropped their fourth straight in the series when Bill Ryan stopped them in the first game. Featured by Hornsby's twenty-seventh homer, tying Williamson's old National League record. However, Haines pitched them to their lone victory in the second.

The avenging hand of fate overtook Francis D. Sixth when six Tigers hit safely for a total of five runs, the Senators losing 6 to 3.

The Cubs played like champions behind Jones and won, going away, from the Braves, 9 to 0.

The Dodgers advanced in fifth place over the passive remains of the Pirates by beating the latter in a pitchers' battle between Vance and Adams, 2 to 2.

COLORED FOLKS EXCURSION WAS DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR

The union excursion of the colored people from this city, Poughkeepsie and Newburgh on the steamboat Sea Gate Thursday to Bear Mountain Park was a grand success in every particular. The fact that the morning clouds shadowed the sun's rays, indicating the approach of a storm, did not deter the many who sailed from going, rather it added to the comfort of the excursionists. A slight storm which continued a few minutes was run into after a short sail had been made down the Hudson. The only regret was that the Sea Gate could carry but 600 passengers as many more than that number desired to go, a large number being turned back at Poughkeepsie and Newburgh. The best of order was maintained, there having been no disorder of any kind during the entire trip. The captain of the Sea Gate declaring the excursion party was the most orderly one that he had ever carried. A most enjoyable day was spent by all at Bear Island which is New York city's big outdoor playground and outing place.

HELPING HAND SOCIETY ENJOYS ANNUAL PICNIC.

The annual picnic of the Ladies' Helping Hand Society was held at the home of Mrs. Julius Eckert at Rifton, N. Y. Those who enjoyed the outing were the following: Mrs. Mary Schultz, Mrs. Margaret Myers, Mrs. Beatrice Vandermarck, Mrs. Josephine Barringer, Mrs. Mary Osterhoudt, Mrs. Theora Ryer, Mrs. Mabel Bode, Mrs. Susan Thompson, Mrs. Mary Eckert, Mrs. Nettie Barringer, Mrs. Mary Sinspaugh, Mrs. Helen Otto, Mrs. Elizabeth Schuster, Mrs. Louise Van Etten, Mrs. Dora Holstein, Mrs. Fannie Kidd, Mrs. Kate Brookie, Mrs. Adah Flowers, Mrs. Lena Bailey, Mrs. Elizabeth Fless, Mrs. Margaret Eckert and the Misses Barbara Bailey, Dorothy Vandermarck, Beatrice Bailey, Emily Eckert and Audrey Kidd; also Frank Myers, Donald Kidd, Raymond Otto and Heywood Eckert.

At 12:30 o'clock two long tables were set on the large porch and a bounteous dinner was served by the ladies. Many thanks are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Eckert and family for their hospitality, and everyone voted them royal entertainers. A pleasing feature of the day was the presenting of a large box of candies by a Rebekah brother from Charles Dicken Lodge, No. 53, of New York city. Albert Kossmann. At 5 o'clock ice cream and cake were served, after which they all departed for their homes by way of automobiles.

Orchids in British Isles.

Glasgow, with 12,000 orchids in four of its public gardens, probably takes the lead among British municipalities. New gardens has 1,000 or more different orchids in cultivation, but 10 or 20 times that number are represented in a dry state, stored and classified in the Kew herbarium. Apart from public gardens, orchid growing in the past has been considered the special privilege of the rich.
